

How Connected TV Adoption and Viewing Behaviors are Shaping the Future of Television

LG Ad Solutions

There have been two recent 'big shifts' in television viewing habits. The first big shift was rapid adoption of streaming content on connected televisions, fueled in-part by stay-at-home guidance at the onset of the pandemic. This first shift was underpinned by subscription-based video content. The second big shift is underway right now. Consumers are drifting away from some of their CTV subscriptions and increasingly preferring free content that is supported by ads. This presents an opportunity to provide better CTV experiences for viewers and opportunities for marketers to connect with their audiences on the biggest screen in the home.

Introduction

Connected TV (CTV) adoption continues to skyrocket since the early days of the pandemic which drove rapid adoption through 2020. Now in 2022 and through 2023 consumer behaviors continue to shift and CTV preferences have changed.

This report investigates CTV usage and preferences amongst US internet users.

Study objectives and design

LG Ads conducted an online survey in the US to determine consumer perceptions and behaviors related to Connected TV (CTV)

Survey field period

September 2022

Participation

Online panel, US general population

n = 773

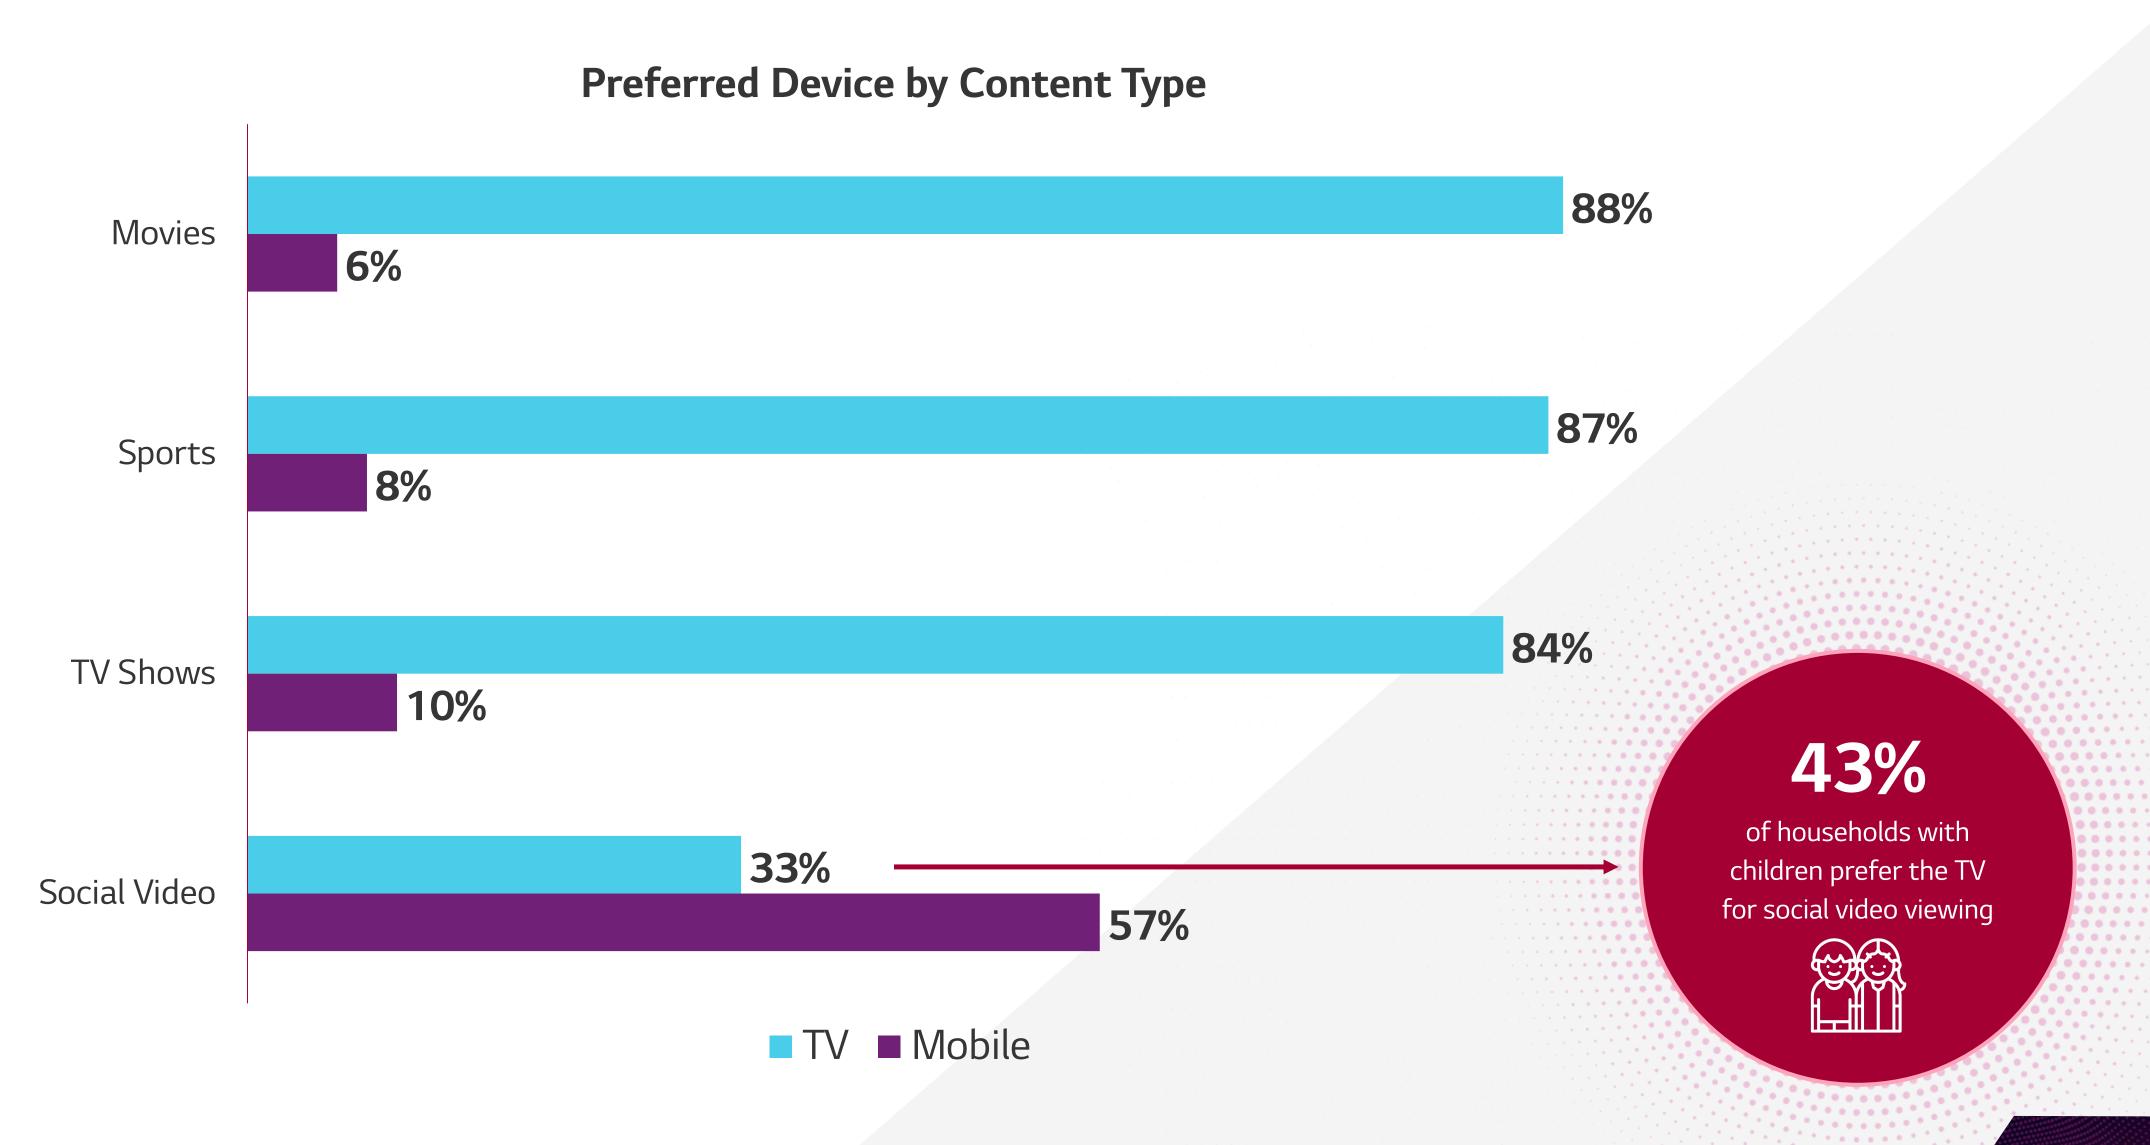

CTV owns the living room with reach near saturation

93%
of US internet users are reachable by CTV

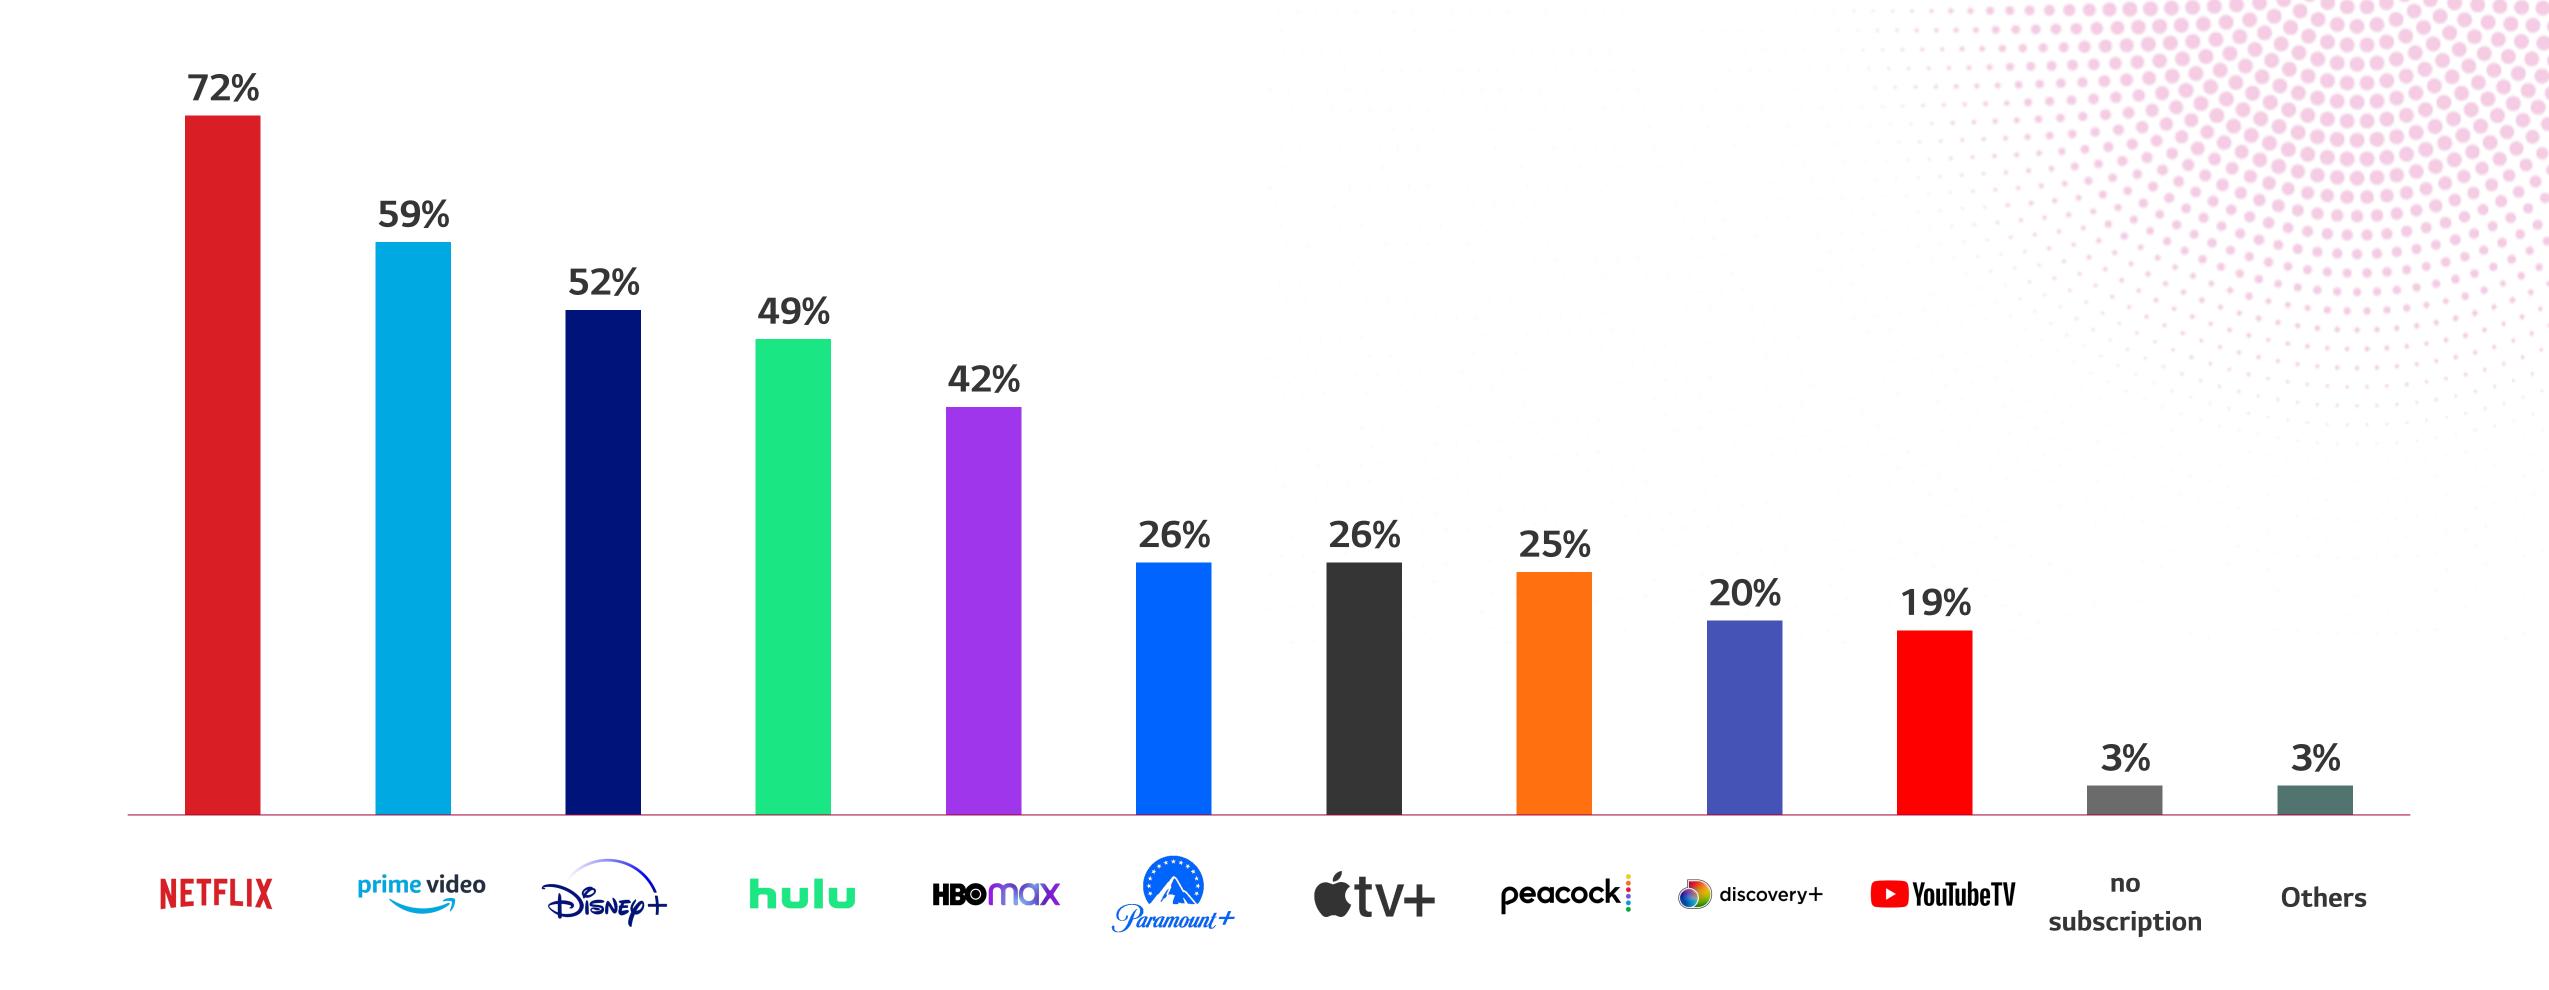

- only 7% do not have access to CTV
- 80% of CTV households say the living room is their main TV

The biggest screen in the home is still preferred

Subscription services used

Ad-supported CTV is most preferred

use ad-supported models of CTV

prefer ad-supported models of CTV

30/0

removed a subscription-based

CTV service in the last 12 months

added a free ad-supported

CTV service in the last 12 months

LG Ad Solutions

This shift to ad-supported will continue...

31%

plan to remove a subscription-based CTV service in the next 12 months.

23%

plan to add a free ad-supported CTV service in the next 12 months.

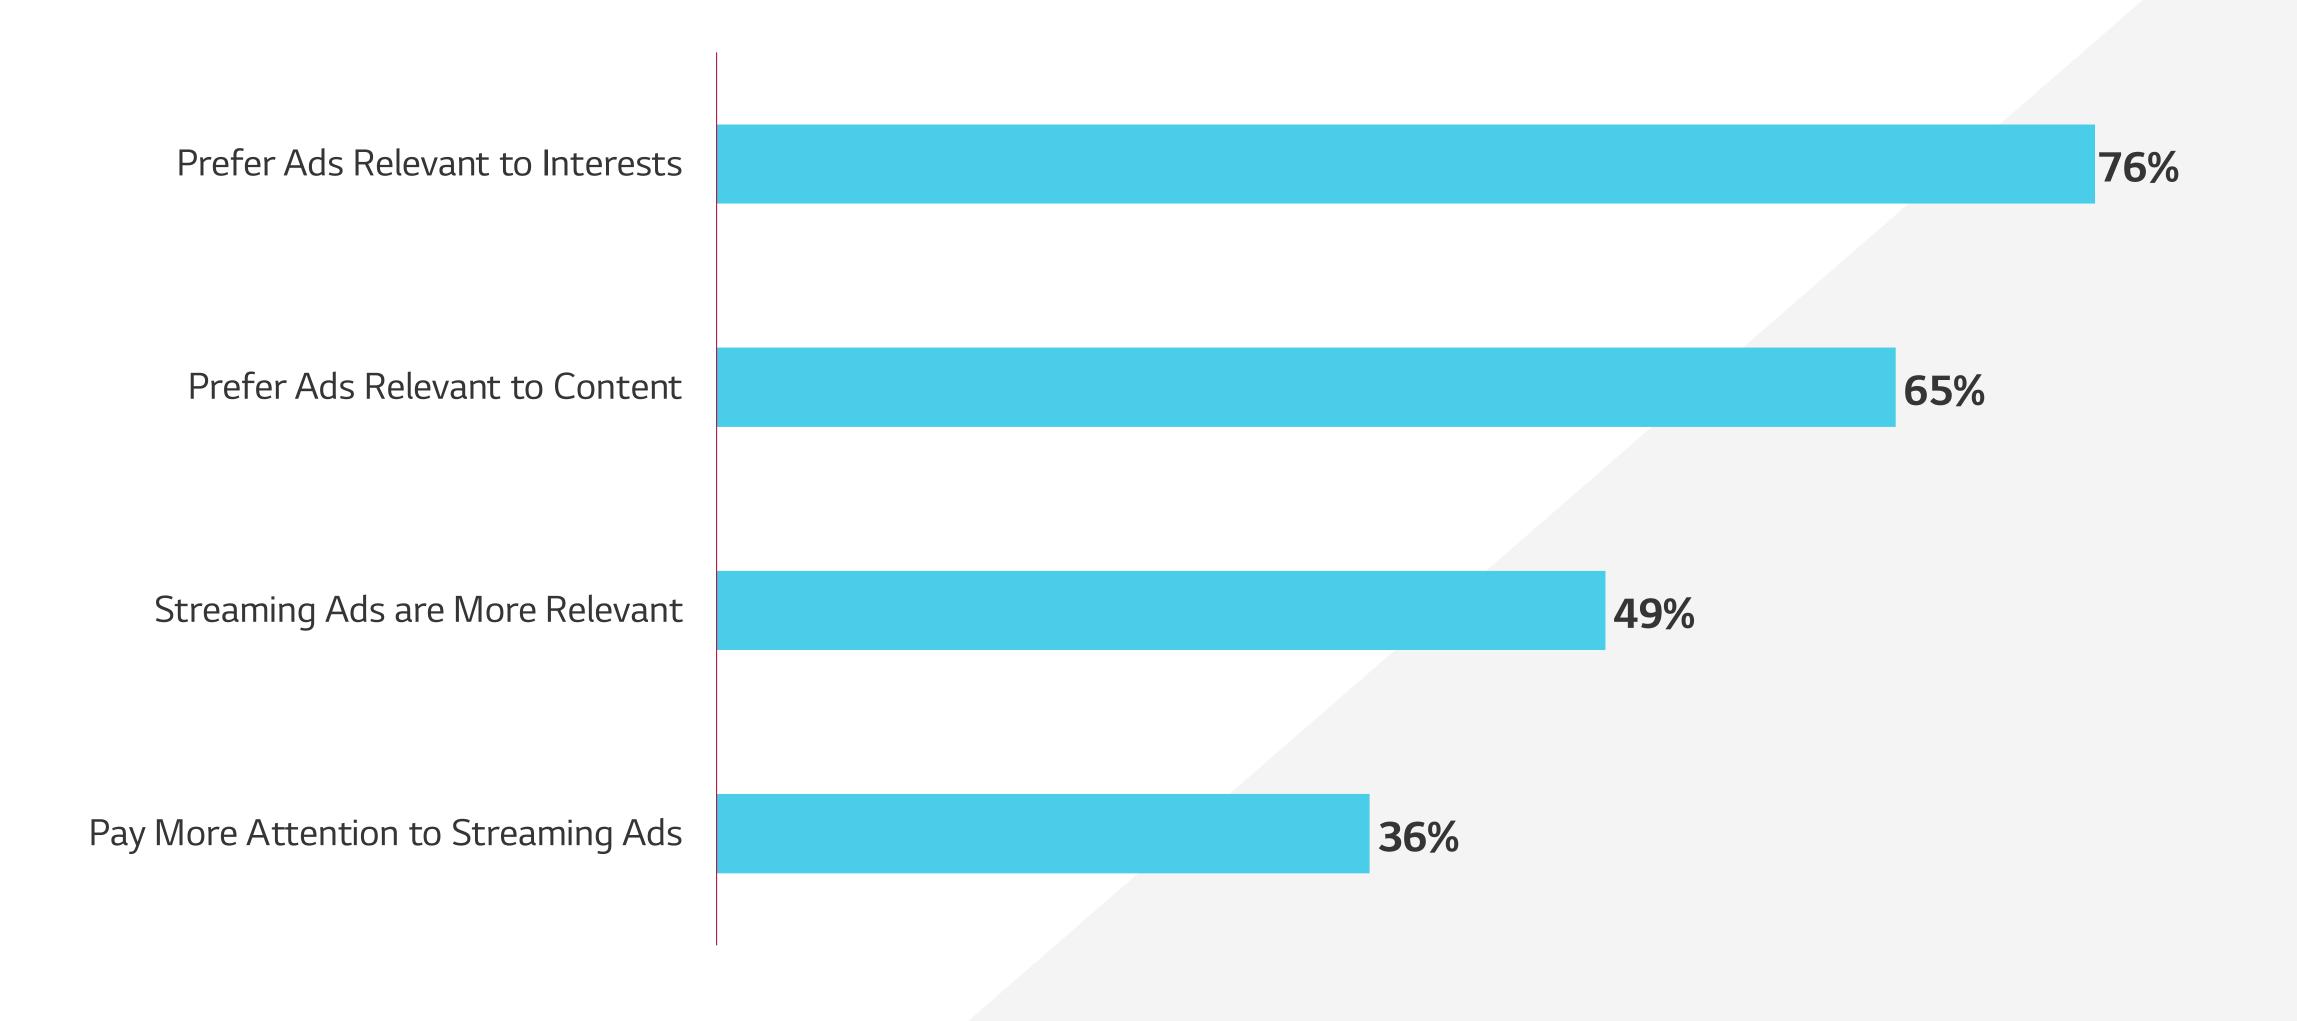

Viewers support the idea of Ad-Subsidized subscriptions will trade off less expensive subscriptions for ad inclusion Q11. I prefer a cheaper subscription for CTV content with fewer ads LG Ad Solutions

Over one-third discover CTV content from the TV's home screen search for content to watch directly from the TV's native homescreen LG Ad Solutions Q12. When trying to find TV content to watch, which of the following describes your typical approach?

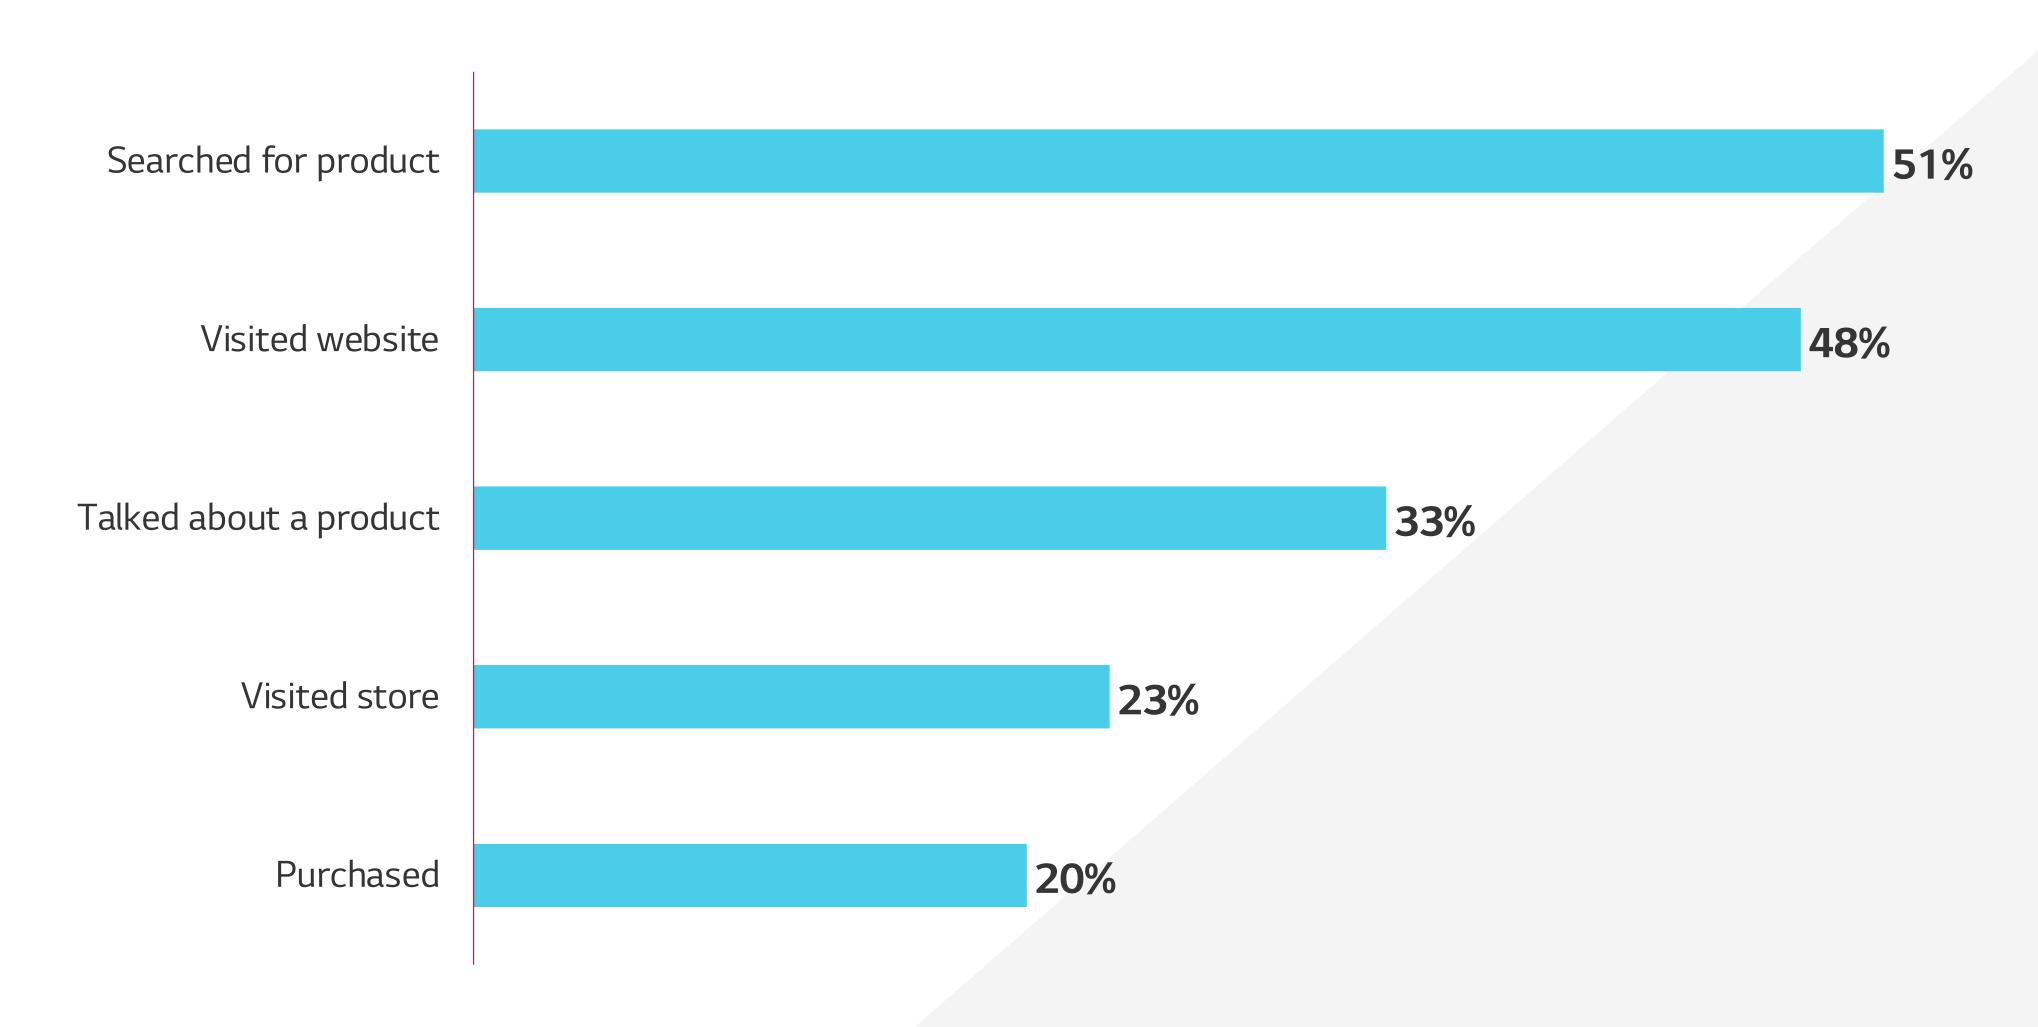

CTV is cannibalizing Linear TV at a steady rate

Consumer perceptions of streaming ads

Actions taken after seeing CTV ads

It is important for advertisers to take a multi-screen approach because multitasking is common multitask with mobile/laptop while watching TV

"Always" multitask with mobile/laptop while watching TV LG Ad Solutions

3 Key Takeaways

LG Ad Solutions

CTV is at near saturation

of US internet users are reachable by CTV

Ad-supported CTV is rapidly gaining traction

use ad-supported models of CTV

prefer ad-supported models of CTV

Viewers want their ads to be relevant prefer CTV ads relevant to their interests

How Connected TV Adoption and Viewing Behaviors are Shaping the Future of Television

LG Ad Solutions